Mike's Picks of the Week!

Indaba 2016 Chenin Blanc (South Africa)

Fresh-cut green apple and white peach notes are laced with a makrut lime thread and backed by a bright honeysuckle accent on the finish.

88 Points Wine Spectator
$6.99

Tilia 2013 Cabernet Sauvignon (Argentina)

This has a serious, clean and focused nose with perfectly ripened fruit, berries and cherries plus a hint of spices and a notable absence of green notes, perhaps a hint of mint that add freshness. The palate is polished, revealing some dusty tannins with very good balance. The hallmark here is drinkability.

90 Points Wine Advocate
$7.99

Yalumba 2013 "Y Series" Cabernet Sauvignon (Australia)

Deep garnet-purple colored, the 2013 Cabernet Sauvignon Y Series opens with notes of fresh black currants, blueberries and plums with menthol, cinnamon toast and pencil lead nuances. Medium-bodied, it's not shy on the structure with a solid backbone of medium to firm grainy tannins and refreshing acid supporting the taut, muscular fruit, finishing with good length. Drink it now to 2019.

87 Points Wine Advocate
$9.99

Chateau Lamothe 2014 Cotes de Bordeaux (France)

This is a fine wine, with wood and fruit both rich and concentrated. It has spice, juicy black fruits and ripe tannins. It is developing slowly and surely and will be ready to drink from 2019.

91 Points Wine Enthusiast
$12.99

Errazuriz 2013 "Max Reserva" Chardonnay (Chile)

Popcorn and baked apple aromas are oaky but not overly woody. This feels fresh but with substance. Flavors of baked apple, woodspice and toast finish healthy, long and with acidic kick.

89 Points Wine Enthusiast
$13.49

Tablas Creek 2014 Patelin de Tablas (California)

Inky ruby. Spice- and smoke-accented aromas of cherry and dark berries are complicated by pungent white pepper. Smoky and smooth on the palate, offering juicy blackberry and bitter cherry flavors that deepen with air. A suggestion of licorice builds slowly on the gently tannic, clinging finish.
