Filon 2017 Garnacha (SPAIN)
Earthy, slightly stalky red fruit aromas are lighter than the palate, which is plump, sticky and resiny. Forced oak is a big part of the flavor profile, which includes clove and berry fruit.

85 POINTS WINE ENTHUSIAST
$8.49

Cantele 2018 Negroamaro Rosato (ITALY)
Medium pink. Juicy, tart pomegranate and strawberry aromas and flavors. Repeating juicy fruit nuances persist nicely on the clean, herb-accented finish.

90 POINTS VINOUS
$10.99

Fess Parker 2017 Riesling (CALIFORNIA)
There's a pleasing petrol character on the nose of this medium-sweet bottling, along with grapefruit and orange peels and rainy cement. There's a flash of sweetness on the palate, with pear syrup and orange-blossom flavors.

87 POINTS WINE ENTHUSIAST
$11.99

Mike's PICKS

Beyra 2016 Vinho Branco (PORTUGAL)
The 2016 Branco Beyra Reserva Quartz is an equal blend of Síria and Fonte Cal, unoaked and coming in at 13% alcohol. This is pretty fine, ripe, relatively full for the under-$20 category and nicely crisp. It has reasonable tension on the finish and lingers nicely.

89 POINTS WINE ADVOCATE
$12.99

Grand Veneur 2016 "Les Champauvins" Cotes du Rhone (FRANCE)
Now that it's in the bottle, the 2016 Cotes du Rhone les Champauvins is looking as good as I predicted last year. It's a full-bodied, concentrated wine that could mop the floor with many Châteauneufs. Rich black cherry fruit is joined by complex herb and spice notes, a creamy mid-palate and a lingering finish. Worth buying by the case.

92 POINTS WINE ADVOCATE
$18.99

Chakana 2017 Estate Malbec (ARGENTINA)
Pure blackberry and black-cherry aromas are elevated by a note of exotic Middle Eastern spice. In the mouth, this is firm and tight, with a touch to tartaric bite. Common top-line Malbec flavors of blackberry, cassis, raisin, baking spices and chocolate finish under control. Drink through 2025.
