Wine OF THE Week

AIA DEI COLOMBI 2017 "VIGNASUPREMA" FALANGHINA (ITALY)

The 2017 Falanghina del Sannio Vigna Suprema is remarkably fresh in this vintage, like breathing in salty sea air while standing in a field of wildflowers and Provencal herbs, as hints of ripe apple sneak into the mix. Textures like silk flood the palate, while salty acids sizzle, and spice saturates everything it touches before ripe peach takes hold of the senses, leaning toward richness but also lifted and poised. The finish is long and salty in the best possible way, resonating with savory minerals and ripe stone fruits. This takes Falanghina to a whole new level.

LES ALLIES 2018 CABERNET SAUVIGNON (FRANCE)

Juicy, spicy red berries, raspberries and plums all abound on the nose of this fresh, vibrant red. The palate is light and fruity, with abundant and snappy red-berry flavors and a touch of crushed violets. It's an easygoing and superbly drinkable red.

ESPORAO 2019 "AMARELO" VINHO VERDE (PORTUGAL)

An exuberant fresh and light wine dominated by citrus and tropical aromas. Excellent body with a balanced acidity and a refreshing and persistent finish.

CAMINO DE NAVAHERROS 2018 VINOS DE MADRID (SPAIN)

There is no lack of ripeness here; the grapes ripened properly, and the wine has deep aromas and flavors, fine-grained tannins and some seriousness within its approachable style. A great vintage for Camino de Navaherros.

STRUB 2018 "FEINHERB" SILVANER (GERMANY)

There are cooling green herbal inflections here that might have come from one of Nierstein's chalk-clay sites rather than from the primarily Permian sandstone in which this Silvaner originates, with sustained and saliva-inducing, salt-tinged finish.

HERENCIA ALTES 2016 LA PELUDA (SPAIN)

Lurid ruby color. Vibrant red/dark berry, floral pastille and licorice scents are complemented by smoky mineral and allspice accents. Sappy and energetic in the mouth, offering appealingly sweet black raspberry and cherry-cola flavors that deepen and become spicier as the wine opens up. Finishes with strong mineral thrust, smooth, slow-building tannins and impressive, red fruit-driven persistence.

TIKAL 2016 "PATRIOTA" BONARDA/MALBEC (ARGENTINA)

Bright medium ruby. Juicy and penetrating in a 2016 way, but fruitier and spicier than green. And sweeter than the Natural Malbec-Syrah without any loss of precision or energy. Offers good density without heaviness and finishes with positive tannic grip.
